

Head's Message

Following the weekend of our Conway Christmas Fair, the festivities continued at the start of the week with a rehearsal for our carol concert that takes place later on today. The children participated with enthusiasm so I have no doubt the performance will be a treat! A special thanks to the Parent Band, who always ensure this annual event is joyful and full of fun.

Earlier in the week, Austen Class and Shakespeare Class immersed themselves in a day of science and innovation with a visit to the Science Museum. As well as exploring the Wonder Lab, they engaged in a specialist session related to their scientific learning about light. As always the children represented the school with pride.

As teaching staff will be engaging in a network training day tomorrow, with opportunities to share and learn from best practice within Ark, the academy will be closed to pupils. We look forward to welcoming you back on Monday!
