

Head's Message

We have well and truly lived the value of aspiration this week! Firstly a huge thank you to Dr Newman and Dr Samaroo, alongside Mr Jones, who enriched the children's 'STEM Fortnight' with a plethora of inspiring assemblies and workshops.

Additionally, on Monday we had a wonderful visit from a musical theatre actress. Madalena performed a series of songs from West End performances, the children and staff were just blown away by her magnificent voice. A big thank you to Mr Biggs for organising the experience.

In keeping with our value of aspiration and our commitment to ensuring every pupil can go on to university or a career of their choice, we have launched a 'Secondary Transition' element on our school website. Recent consultations have confirmed an interest in attending upcoming open days. In a bid to ease this process, we have located all the 'need to know' information for local schools in one space. We hope to add additional resources to this area of the website over time. Any suggestions would be greatly welcomed.

Enjoy the weekend, see you on Monday!

EYFS News

This week, Reception have secretly been helping Mrs Hyslop to group and share sweets for our wonderful co-teachers, as a thank you for all their hard work! On Tuesday we hosted visitors from the schools across the Ark network, who were suitably wowed by the children's incredible mathematical learning. Our visitors also loved this week's writing, as children managed to independently script and perform their very own jungle dance routines. We will be celebrating our hard work next Friday with class 'egg hunt' between 12.30-1.00pm. This ties in nicely with our new literacy text, 'The Odd Egg'. We will be discussing different eggs, what they look like and what they might become when they hatch. We will be writing recounts of the hatched ducklings and we will be hunting for 'odd eggs' around the playground. We will also be writing instructions for and then making an egg and cress sandwich! In maths will be pairing, doubling and halving our eggs. This weekend you have a fun challenge! Please could you make something egg-themed for a class "eggs-hibition" (there will be a prize for the best egg-pun). We will display the egg-themed work in the Reception classroom on Friday. Parents will be welcome to arrive 10 minutes early (1.20pm) for collection on the last day in order to come into the classroom and have a brief glance at the works of art and see who got the "egg-cellent" prize from Mrs Osborne! You could use real hen's eggs in your art work if you are feeling ambitious, or you could draw a character and give him an "egg-citing" name!
